

As seen in

MANHASSET PRESS

December 7, 2006

Mothers Group of Manhasset Carries on a Tradition

Since the 1950s the Community Liaison Committee had decorated the Manhasset railroad station at Christmas time with decorations given to them by local stores such as B. Altman, A & S, and Lord and Taylor. For many years, until the railroad station was renovated in the 1990s, the decorations were stored in the dark and dusty basement of the station that used to be a coal cellar.

Recently, the Mothers Group of Manhasset has expressed interest in reviving the Community Liaison Committee. They want to know more about that civic organization and the important community issues it dealt with and to organize a day-time forum to be made aware of and express concern about civic issues.

On Dec. 1, the Mothers Group of Manhasset decorate the railroad station, along with railroad personnel, using new decorations contributed by the Cohen & Perfetto law firm and Stone Properties Group.